1. People in Czechoslovakia still listen to foreign broadcasts in Czech, but no longer with much enthusiasm. Those who understand foreign languages prefer to listen to foreign broadcasts in the original language for the simple reason that reception is much better as broadcasts in Czech are usually jammed. Most popular now are the Swiss and West German stations. The BBC in Czech is also popular, but the reception in Prague is apparently not too good. It is best at Zabehlice near Prague.
2. In the Prague area there are about 36 jamming stations engaged in jamming broadcasts in Czech. Some of them are located in the vicinity of the new crematorium in Prague-Strasnice and on the Zizkov hill.
